

SCTE Webinar Series featuring VIAVI

The SCTE's popular webinar series continued in September with our friends at VIAVI, whose topic, Enabling High Fibre Count Deployment, featured speakers Tom Ronan and Charlene Roux from VIAVI but in a novel new development, they invited Roshene McCool, Senior Market and Technology Development Manager from Corning to give her views.

It made for a fascinating and engaged webinar where James Harwood, our moderator found himself fielding many more questions from the audience than he had anticipated. The content was niche but the audience certainly got involved. It proves that our concept is as popular as ever and we look forward to the next event with our friends at CommScope, in early 2022.
